

Problem 3

Together with your team, brainstorm a solution for each of the situations/problems listed to the left.

You continue a work in progress on a new computer.

use git clone that's the first step

You accidentally delete the file "important.txt".

use the restore command

You want to reuse a file from a previous assignment.

use the head command

You want to throw away recent changes that you made to a file.

you could use the git checkout

You forgot to push your solution before the assignment deadline.

simply go back and use the push command or go back to commit step and check your work
